All life-scientists connected to Magdeburg are welcome to join the FSN. It doesn't matter whether Magdeburg was the starting point, an intermediate stop or final destination in your career.

The aim of our network is to connect alumnae and currently in Magdeburg working scientists, to win them as role models or mentors for future junior scientists and to highlight various career paths inside and outside academia.

You have been working or are currently living in Magdeburg as a female scientist and would like to ...

- get in contact with other researchers
- raise your visibility
- become a role model
- be a mentor or mentee
- become a speaker for conferences
- be a guest on networking events
- present your career and family model
- share experiences about your career path

Then join our network!
